

CONFIRMS STORIES OF HOTEL CONFERENCES

DAUGHERTY SAYS HE EXPECTS TO PROVE CHARGES

Notifies Committee Roxie
Stinson Offered to Sell Evidence.

Cleveland, O., March 18.—Samuel Ungerleider, Cleveland stockbroker, named as one of the witnesses through which attorneys for Attorney General H. M. Daugherty, expect to prove before the Brookhart-Wheeler Committee in Washington that Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jesse Smith, acting with "A. L. Fink," of Buffalo, attempted to sell to him and other friends of the attorney general, certain documents and leave the country, today confirmed the stories of alleged hotel conferences here.

According to hotel records here, "A. L. Fink" and wife, of Pittsburgh, Pa., occupied room 456 at the Hollenden Hotel on February 18. This room was given up February 19. On February 19, a woman registered as "Roxie Stinson" at the Hotel Statler, remaining until February 21.

"A. L. Fink," of Buffalo, N. Y., registered at the Hotel Cleveland, February 18, but the records do not disclose the length of his stay. The story as given out in Washington said that Miss Stinson offered to sell her silence for $150,000, later reducing it to $50,000. That Samuel Ungerleider, Jas. W. Holcomb, former Cleveland traction commissioner and Henry T. Ellis, of Cleveland, and Mel S. Daugherty, of Washington, friends of the attorney general, conferred with Fink and Miss Stinson and declined to purchase her silence for any sum whatever.

The original of the Hollenden Hotel register of February 18 has been turned over to John W. Ryan, department of justice, here, J. Frawley, one of the managers of the Hollenden said. United States Attorney A. E. Berstein said a further investigation of the matter was being made.

Ryan was out of town.

Washington, March 18.—Attorney Daugherty notified the senate committee investigating him last night that he expected to prove that Roxie Stinson, one of the star witnesses in the inquiry, had shown a willingness "to sell" documentary evidence in her possession "and her silence" for $150,000.

Witnesses whose appearance he has requested, Daugherty said, would testify that such negotiations were entered into in Cleveland on February 21, last, by Miss Stinson and a companion, A. L. Fink of Buffalo. They would testify further, he said, that later the price was reduced to $50,000, but that the friends of the attorney general who were approached on the subject refused to pay her "anything for the alleged evidence."

The attorney general's announcement was made in his letter to Chairman Brookhart of the investigating committee.

"Mr. Chairman, gentlemen of the committee:

"We some time ago requested the issuance of subpoenas for James W. Holcomb, 9400 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.; Samuel Ungerleider, Leader News Building, Cleveland, O.; Henry T. Ellis, Cleveland, O.; and M. S. Daugherty, Washington, D. C. Your committee advised us that a statement of what we expected to prove by our witnesses must accompany the request for subpoenas.

"Complying with that rule, we allege on information and belief that said witnesses, if called, will testify that on the twenty-first day of February, 1924, Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jesse W. Smith, deceased, and A. L. Fink of Buffalo, N. Y., were in Cleveland and had a conference with the above named witnesses; that on

SOLVE MYSTERY OF 3 MURDERS; MAN CONFESSES

Sheriff Declares New York
Man Admits His Guilt

Batavia, N. Y. March 18.—The mystery surrounding the triple killing of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalley and Mabel Morse at Linden last Tuesday was cleared up today when Sheriff Ware announced John Vetoski had confessed the crime.

Vetoski, according to Sheriff Ware, related the following story:

On the day of the murder, he, Vetoski, was walking along the Erie railroad tracks that run about 100 feet south of the Whalley home. He said he was short of money and, spying the little Whalley house on the hill, decided to rob it. He gained entrance through the rear cellar way and had found pocketbooks containing money in the living room when Whalley came in the front door.

Vetoski said that he fired at Whalley and missed. He chased Whalley about the house, and finally cornered him in the pantry, where the fatal shot was fired.

Mrs. Whalley came in the house a few minutes later and Vetoski killed her with the bullet. Having killed them, Vetoski decided to burn the cottage in an effort to conceal the crime. He had dragged Mrs. Whalley's body into the living room and was pulling Whalley's body there when Mrs. Morse entered the room.

Vetoski said he decided he would have to kill Mrs. Morse in the fear that she would identify him with the crimes he already committed.

There were no more cartridges in his revolver, he told her with a blow with his fist. He found a pick axe handle and crushed Mrs. Morse's skull with the handle before she had recovered consciousness from the first blow. Vetoski then dragged her body to a place near where he had placed the bodies of the Whalleys. He covered them with rugs and sprinkled these with oil.

After firing the rugs and leaving the cottage in the belief that the smoking ruins would hide the crimes, Vetoski wandered about the country, living in barns and stealing food for his needs. He was arrested yesterday when he applied for work on a farm.

Cincinnati, O. Mar. 18.—John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, on a visit here today, declared the American Legion offered its aid to Grover Cleveland Bergdoll "because it is our duty to do so."

The legion commander verified their report that a representative of the organization had been sent to urge Bergdoll to return.

He emphatically denied that the legion was guilty of attempts to kidnap Bergdoll and felt that the legion could be cleared of any suspicion in the matter by seeking to induce him to come back of his own free will.

New York, Mar. 18.—Low in funds, willing to do his bit in prison, as a slacker and ready to expose those who aided his sensational escape, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll is preparing to return to the United States, Norman P. Hagwood, editor of Hearst's International Magazine, declared today, following receipt of Janssen told police his wife had received a box of candy from a man named "Tom," living in Pittsburgh, Penn., about a year ago. A revolver was found in the bottom of the box, he said. He said he believed the revolver was sent so his wife could kill him.

Janssen said he remained in an adjoining room while the Mexican killed his wife.

Mrs. Janssen's body was found by special agents for the Union Pacific Railway at Ogden, Utah, who forced open the trunk after an express messenger had reported that blood was trickling from it.

The trunk was checked from Denver last Friday for Weed, Cal.

Daugherty dealt both in his own name and in the account of W. W. Spaid, a partner of William Hibbs, of Hibbs and Company, Washington, bond dealers.

He said indications were that Spaid's account was that of Jesse W. Smith. Smith's name, however, did not appear on the books.

Daugherty's profits in Sinclair consolidated were negligible, Bond testified and in all of the attorney general's deals he did not handle more than 1100 shares.

WAR TO DESTROY CIVILIZATION

Cleveland, O., March 18.—With France busy night and day building airplanes; Germany experimenting with new kinds of poison gas and Italy also striving for aerial supremacy, another European war is inevitable, according to Shaw Desmond, novelist in Cleveland today.

Desmond, who has recently returned from Europe, added:

"The next war will be a chemical war and will be only one of a chain of European wars that will ultimately destroy civilization there unless a miracle intervenes."

BONUS PASSAGE ASSURED DURING HOUSE SESSION

Measure Described By Opponents as "Tombstone Bonus"

Washington, March 18.—The house today passed the soldiers' bonus bill as predicted early in the day.

Washington, March 18.—Described by its opponents as a "tombstone bonus" because a soldier "must die to get his money," or wait twenty years for the maturity of his insurance policy, the new soldier's bonus bill was taken up by the house today, under a rule which assured its passage during the afternoon.

Sixty congressmen were counted this morning in opposition to the bill, as reported by the ways and means committee. They are against the legislation on principle and because they fear the effect on national finances.

Leaders in the opposition are Mills, of New York, Treadway of Massachusetts, Hawley, of Oregon and Watson, of Pennsylvania, all Republicans and staunch supporters of President Coolidge who has declared against a bonus.

Adoption of the gag rule for the consideration of the bonus requires the consent of two thirds of the membership present to pass the bill. Indications pointed to an attendance of approximately 400 when the vote is taken, and about 135 votes would be necessary to block the passage. The opposition cannot muster half that number.

Only twenty minutes were allowed to each side for debate on the bill before a vote, although this closure can be abandoned by unanimous consent.

ROUND THE WORLD FLIERS ARE CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS TUESDAY

Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., March 18.—The United States army aerial globe trotters took to the air at 9:28 a. m. today on the second hop of their 30,000 mile cruise around the world.

Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., March 18.—Today's course in the epochal flight of the army's world circling Douglas cruisers was suddenly altered early today to make Eugene, Oregon, the objective instead of Portland.

Major F. L. Martin, commander of the flight, arriving at the field as the planes were being run out of the hangars brought first word of the change in plans made with a view to averting unnecessary fatigue by long jumps, the commander of the expedition said.

The fourth "round the world" airplane was scheduled to reach Matherfield here about noon, according to telegraphic information received early today.

The delayed plane, piloted by Lieutenant Erik Nelson, will stop over tonight at Sacramento and fly to Portland, Oregon, tomorrow, according to present plans, then jumping from Portland to Seattle, where it will join its sister ships.

Fully equipped for the second jump in the spectacular cruise, the three Douglas army planes which landed here yesterday, were run out of their hangars at daybreak today and tuned up.

The commander of the air fleet stated that the flight from Santa Monica over the Tehachap mountains to this city yesterday thoroughly tested the stability of the craft, as they were forced to fight heavy winds for more than half the trip.

"In view of the splendid manner in which the planes stood up on the initial flight, I am even more confident that the cruise will be a success," said Commander Martin.

"I do not labor under the false impression that the feat would be easily accomplished, but I know it can be done. Whether we are successful, depends upon us. The ships represent the nearest approach to perfection yet reached in aircraft construction."

Snodgrass admitted having hired three Negroes to stage the holdup, but told the police his "holdup" friends double crossed him and made their getaway with the $400.

CALL WEEKS AND MELLON TO GIVE NEW TESTIMONY

Committee Wants to Question War Secretary On Aircraft Case

Washington, Mar. 18.—In a stormy session, frequently featured by shouting and charges of evasion, the Daugherty investigating committee drew from William A. Orr, of New York today a highly picturesque story of how thousands of dollars changed hands among friends of Attorney General Daugherty for their efforts in "getting whiskey permits" through the prohibition bureau.

As has been the case with most of the previous testimony, the attorney general himself was not directly accused or connected with these various deals, but always the testimony involved the men around him who accounted themselves "close."

Orr took the stand to tell about his part in the alleged conspiracy to show the Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures by "fixing" the department of justice but he never got to tell much about it, for Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, turned the examination into whiskey channels and for two hours the committee and a roomful of eager spectators were regaled with stories of how money passed all around the attorney general, but never to him.

Howard Mannington, Jesse Smith, both Ohioans, who were prominent as "unofficial members of the administration," received large sums of money for using their supposed influence in Washington. It was brought out in Orr's testimony, Orr said he could not remember how much he personally had paid to Mannington but estimated it at $6,000, a figure that Senator Wheeler said was ridiculous. Wheeler asked if it were not $600,000 but Orr said he did not know.

Orr proved an evasive witness and the hearing was continually punctuated with admissions from his senatorial questioners to "come on, now and tell us about these liquor deals."

He exhibited extreme nervousness on the stand.

The testimony only partly concerned the attorney general for liquor withdrawals and permits come under the treasury department and not the department of justice. The system as it was drawn from Orr in two hours of continual questioning was for people who wanted liquor withdrawn to "see" Mannington and Smith and they would undertake to put the withdrawals through for fees. Neither was a lawyer and neither occupied any official position in the government. But both were considered "close" to Daugherty.

Finally wearying of questioning Orr, who frequently said he could "not" remember, the committee excused him and called Maco Stewart, a Galveston lawyer, for questioning concerning land lotteries and frauds and their alleged lack of prosecution by the department of justice.

Washington, Mar. 18.—Investigation of Attorney General H. M. Daugherty today took another sensational turn, when it was announced by Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, that subpoenas have been issued for two members of President Coolidge's cabinet. Secretary of War John W. Weeks and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon.

The committee is understood to want to question Weeks concerning the Standard Aircraft case in which Gaston B. Means has testified he received $100,000 in thousand dollar bills from a mysterious Japanese and turned the money over to Jesse W. Smith.

Mellon is to be questioned, it was said, concerning liquor withdrawal permits. Means having testified last week that he investigated the secretary of the treasury for President Harding and "got him."

The committee today started to dip deeper into the alleged conspiracy to transport and exhibit the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films, calling William A. Orr, former secretary to Governor Whitman, of New York, as the first witness. Orr testified he owned 20 per cent of the pictured rights.

The committee, at the same time, announced it had also subpoenaed Major Roy A. Haynes, chief of the prohibition unit, David Blair, head of the internal revenue bureau, H. H. Votaw, brother-in-law of the late President Harding and superintendent of federal prisons; Elmer Dover, former assistant of the treasury and three special assistant to attorneys general, John W. Crtm, Henry W. Anderson and Adna R. Johnson Jr.

Other subpoenas were issued for Arthur Robb, chief clerk in the department of justice; Alfred W. Urion and Henry K. Urion, Washington attorneys; Arthur Sixsmith, treasury department official and James A. Finch, pardon clerk in the department.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system, the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

BUS LINE IS NOT WANTED BY PEOPLE

In answer to the application now before the state public utilities commission from certain bus line operators to obtain a license, to operate a bus line over the Springfield-Xenia route, petitions have been signed by about 85 per cent of the residents along the S. and X. traction route, setting forth that the line is serving the territory adequately and satisfactorily and declaring that there is no need for bus service.

The traction lines has served the route for twenty-three years. Under the new state law, the applicant for the new line must show that the bus service is desired or needed by the route patrons. The petitions were circulated voluntarily, Charles Seaviss, general superintendent of the road, said Monday.

Patrons of the road were offered an opportunity to express themselves through the petition, and without any systematic canvass, the signatures were obtained. Mr. Seaviss said that in all probability a percentage even larger could be obtained if a house-to-house circulation of the petitions were made.

The Caesar-creek school has resumed sessions after being closed for a few days on account of the death of Charles Faulkner.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Faulkner entertained a few friends at dinner Sunday.

The neighbors of the vicinity held an old-fashioned "belling" Wednesday night, on Mr. and Mrs. William Neff, who were recently married, and reside on Mrs. Ida Streit's farm.

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then said to my husband, 'Please go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I want to take it.' The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. If you only knew how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book and your medicines the best of thanks."—Mrs. HAMERINK, 3765 25th Street, Detroit, Michigan.

Try This Way To Get Relief From Head Colds

Nothing to Swallow—You Just Melt a Little in a Spoon and Breathe in the Healing Vapors.

To stop a head cold, try this simple, direct method. Melt a little Vicks in a spoon and inhale the penetrating Vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc. Also put a little up each nostril and snuff well back.

Another method is to heat a tin cup, put in a teaspoonful of Vicks and inhale the vapors that way. As fast as the vapors lose their strength, throw out the melted Vicks and add fresh.

Mothers prefer Vicks for their children because it avoids so much internal dosing. It can be used with perfect safety on the youngest child.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

"SINCLAIR-DOHENY & CO."—OIL

Government action begins in the oil lease cases. Receivers have been named for the Teapot Dome fields and the Mammoth Oil Company enjoined from further development there. Like action will be taken against the Doheny developments in the Elks Hills of California. Harry F. Sinclair will fight back in Wyoming. E. L. Doheny will do grim battle for Elk Hills. One of the greatest legal struggles in American history is beginning. In the slow course of this fight in the courts the real facts as to illegality of these leases will be brought out and the question whether or not these leases were in fact a looting of the public interests will be decided. This action will not be so spectacular as an oil investigation or as dramatic as the usual Washington inquiry. Nevertheless, the final result of all the sound and fury of the last three months will depend upon it.

DAY BY DAY

A man who knew that he had but a day left to live might be forgiven if he spent it in deep mourning or in an agony of despair; but some who expect that death may overtake their panting course at any time are giving no part of the precious, unknowable remainder of their lives in vain lamentation. Instead, they put into each day all they have to bring to it. It is our business to live and to commit the issue to the Power that made the world and put us in it for a while.

We cannot all at once live the years that lie between birth and death; we are compelled to take them day by day. Some of the days have come as with a rush of wings and raised us to a height where, if we could, we would remain; others take hold on us with a fiend's clutch and carry us to the nethermost circle of the inferno of the disheartened. But it is not the days that deserve to rule our lives—it is our own wills, superior to every cheerless or hostile circumstance.

THE NEW SECRETARY

The good wishes of the country will go with Judge Curtis D. Wilbur into the Department of the Navy. The new Secretary of the Navy, succeeding Edwin Denby, is a Californian but not a "Native Son." He has had naval experience of a sort, but it was brief. Graduating from the United States Naval Academy in 1888, he did not linger in that navy to which he now returns after thirty-six years. A native of Iowa, he appears to have been in the vanguard of the Iowa migration that has moved so many Iowans to California in recent years.

He leaves the chief justiceship of California's Supreme Court to come to Washington. In his thirty-six years on the Coast he has been teacher, attorney and jurist. His record as a public official is not long, but it is good. Doubtless his appointment has its political significance. Most appointments do. In its larger aspects, however, it will be taken as a recognition of the vital interests of the Pacific Coast in the United States Navy. East of the Alleghenies the Pacific Coast line seems very far away. To the trans-Cascadian, looking out over the Pacific to Asia, it is very near. Judge Wilbur should bring a new and possibly a needed viewpoint into the Department of the Navy.

"ENFORCE THE LAW"

This is the message that will go forth to the country at large from the convention of prominent women's organizations, to be held in Washington D. C., on the 10th and 11th of April.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover is chairman, and Mrs. Robert Lansing is honorary secretary of this coming Law Enforcement Convention. Miss Lida Hafford, secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has arranged the convention as chairman of the executive committee. The beautiful Scottish Rite Temple has been graciously offered the committee, and the sessions will be held there, features of which will be speeches by prominent men and women, and a pageant entitled, "America, the Beautiful."

The Washington committee is a branch of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement; of which Mrs. Henry W. Peabody is chairman, headquarters at 302 Ford Bldg., Boston, Mass. The object of this National Committee, which extends through the nation, is to "work for enforcement of all law, with special stress, at present, on the prohibition law, the front today where the battle against lawlessness has to be fought."

"This is the committee that has issued the books, 'Save America,' which is having such a sale through the affiliated women's organizations, which are the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Young Women's Christian Association, Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association, Council of Women for Home Missions, Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America, International Order of King's Daughters, National Council of Women and Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Every woman's organization, state and local is asked to send delegates to this Law Enforcement Convention, in which the women of America will lay down the law to the country that American citizens must obey the law of the land.

LET FAME COME LAST

Let fame come last. There are so many things More worth the winning than the pomp of fame: A child's love, and the laughter of a game. The satisfaction which a good deed brings: A character where no dishonor clings. A happy hearth fire and a spotless name. The joys of friendship—who but these will claim. Needs not to envy the renown of kings. Seek not for fame, seek rather to be true: Cherish the will to be of service here.

To give your best to what you find to do. To make the most of every passing year. Fear not the future, nor regret the past. Think first of manhood and let fame come last.

ALL "NEWS" TO HIM

BURDENS

1904—Twenty Years Ago—1924

It seems as if Xenia cannot be defeated by any outside team at basketball this season. The Xenia boys "put it on" by defeating Dayton 16 to 12 last night. The lineup for Xenia was, Landaker, Capt. Adair, H., Cleveland, H., Cretors, Rg., and Arbogust, Jr.

The grade of Detroit Street was determined at 27 inches at the overhead bridge, at the city council meeting last night. The grade will allow the largest traction cars to pass beneath the bridge. The work of double-tracking the Pan Handle east of this city, is being pushed forward with much vigor and a night force has now been put to work.

General J. Warren Keifer was nominated yesterday for Congressman by the Seventh District Republican on the first ballot.

A Reader: "I have used a good many different stove polishes but cannot find one that gives a high gloss. I do not want to paint my stove in any way. Please publish the name of a good polish."
Answer: I am sorry that I cannot publish trade names in this column, as that is advertising. With so many excellent stove polishes sold in the stores you should be able to find one that you like. Ask your grocer to recommend one. I have no recipes for stove polishes.

P. S. H.: Kindly publish a good cookie recipe.
Answer: Old-Fashioned Cookies: Cream together one-half cup of butter and one cup of granulated sugar; add one beaten egg, one-half cup of sour cream, one-fourth teaspoon of soda (dissolved in the cream) and two and one-half cups of flour sifted with three and one-half level teaspoons of baking powder. Stir well. The batter should be quite stiff. Drop it from a spoon onto buttered tins, dredge with granulated sugar and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes. (They are soft when properly made.)

A Reader: "Have you recipes for Potato Pancakes and Pork Cake? Kindly answer by personal letter?"
Answer: I am publishing your request for two reasons: first because I hope that some of our Reader Friends may have these recipes and will send them to me to publish for you; and secondly, because you did not enclose a stamp. I cannot send personal replies unless a stamped.

Today's Talks

SOMEBODY

If it were not for the Sombodies in my life I do not know what I would do. I think I would grow very thin and pale and lose a bit of my robust appetite for food and fun. But, thank God, I have a few choice Sombodies who make life well worth all that it costs!

In a southern city I was once amused by the spectacle of an elephant and cart being driven around by a colored man. I was told that this animal was a most useful beast in carting around loads an ordinary team of horses could not handle.

It happened one day that they thought they could get along without the colored man, and they substituted a white man as the handler of the elephant. After a few days the elephant became ill, seemingly—would not eat and would not work. Doctors did all they could, but a wise man, who had been acquainted with the facts, said that the only thing the matter with the animal was that it missed its former master.

And so they hunted until they located the colored man then wired money to a western town for his return.

When the train rolled in the elephant was there to meet it, and the minute the colored man was spied the elephant gave one great roar, grabbed his friend and threw him to his back and started down the street knocking over cars and cars—so happy that the police had to be called to clear the way!

He just wanted his Somebody—that's all. And he's been well from that day to this! There is always somebody who understands, somebody who is patient, somebody who is ready to give and serve and sacrifice for our happiness. There are too many people who think that life is made up of food for the body, whereas what most of us need more than anything else is food for our souls.

Next to having a Somebody, who is always ready to lift you, and to forgive you, and to understand you, even better than you understand yourself, is to be a Somebody!

WATCHMAN WILL BE RETAINED AFTER SCHOOL ROBBERIES

Members of the Xenia City board of education, at a special session Tuesday, voted to retain a night watchman for the new Central High School.

The action was speeded by recent burglaries of the building, the most recent of which was Monday night, when forcible entrance was obtained to the office of C. A. Waltz, superintendent, on the basement floor and to the office of Harper C. Pendry, high school principal, on the first floor.

The marauders broke the glass panel in the door of the superintendent's office, thus making it possible to unlock the door from the inside. Several dollars were reported missing. The door and lock on the office of the principal were mutilated by the vandals in jimmying an entrance to that room.

Several weeks ago boys' dressing rooms were entered during a basketball game by breaking the glass in the door, and articles belonging to players stolen. At another time a teacher frightened away someone attempting to enter the building. Authorities believe the vandals are boys who enter the building to play in the gymnasium.

People who arrange to use the building after nine o'clock at night in the future are warned to notify teachers or someone in charge as there will be a watchman on hand after that hour.

RADIO FANS HEAR LEGION COMMANDER FROM CINCINNATI

Local radio fans, who tuned in on WLW the broadcasting station of the Crosley Radio Corporation, Cincinnati, Monday evening listened to an address delivered by John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, at the dinner of the combined Hamilton County Councils of the American Association for the recognition of the Irish Republic.

Commander Quinn talked on "Patriotism" pointing out the efforts being made by the American Legion along this line, and the aims of the organization to foster love for American institutions and ideals. He said that if the legion, after its useful span of life, could inculcate the principles of true Americanism, effecting a homogenous people, its existence would be justified by its works.

The speaker touched on the work of the legion in caring for the disabled veterans of the World War; the part played by the organization in solving the unemployment problem that faced the country after the return of millions of soldiers to private life. He lauded the principles and patriotism of the ex-servicemen, who returned to civilian life with the determination to safeguard the ideals of their country with the same fervor they showed on the battlefield. He spoke briefly on the immigration question.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. William P. O'Connor, of Sedamsville, a suburb of Cincinnati. The Rev. Father O'Connor, was formerly pastor of St. Augustines Church at Jamestown, and last year was national chaplain of the legion. Other scheduled speakers on the St. Patrick's Day program were: Joseph O'Doherty, Irish Republican member of the Dall Ireann, who recently came to the United States as Attache in the staff of J. J. O'Keefe; T. D. Envoy; Archbishop Henry Moeller, who gave invocation; J. J. Castallini gave an address America's Debt to Ireland. M. F. Galvin, Cincinnati attorney, acted as toastmaster.

DENIES RUMOR OF PROPOSED INCREASE

Denial that The Ohio Bell Telephone Company is contemplating phone rental increases affecting subscribers in the Xenia area, was made Tuesday by H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager here.

Denial was issued in answer to a rumor gaining circulation within the last few days, that the company is contemplating increases in all rates here and which has resulted in numerous inquiries being directed to officials at the Xenia office.

According to Mr. Cleaver there is now pending before the Public Utilities Commission a request of the telephone company for a slight increase in long distance toll rates effective all over the state, which will earn for the company a gross average increase of three cents a call. The proposed increase is being held up by injunction obtained by Governor Donahey pending decision of the commission, but it will not affect the rental rates of telephones in Greene County.

Subscribers who have directed inquiries to the office here say a collector who has been circulating a petition here, asking phone users to contribute to a campaign fund to fight the increase, has given them the impression that phone rental rates are to be increased here.

ITY SCHOOLS ARE REPRESENTED WHEN P. T. A. CONVENES

A business meeting of the cabinet of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association of the Xenia City schools, was held at Central High school, Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Harry D. Smith, president, in charge. Twenty members, four representatives from each of the units of the federation, Orient Hill, Springfield, Central High, McKinley and Union High School attended the session.

The federation has received $148.33 from the Christmas Seal Sale in Xenia. The organization now has $197.25 in the bank with no outstanding bills. The secretary read a note of thanks at the meeting from the board of governors of the Greene County Library, voicing the board's appreciation of the gift of $100, with which to buy books for the use of the school children.

A motion, to donate $25 to pay for the mending of shoes, sent to the Opportunity School, for the pupils to work with, was carried.

The federation will pay the expenses of the dinner honoring the State P. T. A. officers, April 11, at Central High School.

Mrs. Smith, president, appointed Mrs. C. R. Stearns, Mrs. R. A. Tull, Mrs. Adolph Moser, Mrs. Charles Cross, and Mrs. P. C. Banker, as members of the nominating committee, in preparation for the election in April.

Officers of the organization, declared at the meeting, Monday that the success of the association was due to a large extent to the support of The Gazette and The Republican.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

This Letter is of Vital Interest to You

Cambridge, Ohio—"During expectancy I was almost a physical wreck. I was nervous, could not sleep, suffered with nausea, or sick stomach, had backaches, pains in my side and bearing pains. I was so near down that I could not do anything. Finally I decided to give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a trial. I had taken this medicine only a few days when I could see that my nerves were better, and by the time I had taken two bottles I felt as well as anyone could wish to be, did all my work and felt well and strong the remainder of the time. I had comparatively no suffering—was ill just a short time and I had a very fine healthy baby weighing nine pounds. The expectant mother will find 'Favorite Prescription' a great help in many ways."—Mrs. Milton Tipple, 707 S. 10th St.

MOTHERS are just realizing the remarkable energy-producing value of Karo Syrup—and why it is such a wonderful food. It is because Karo contains a very large percentage of Dextrose, the great energy food—and is itself in a form to be most easily digested and absorbed into the system.

You could not live long without Dextrose. The starch and sugar in all the food you eat—bread, vegetables, potatoes—must be changed into Dextrose before your system can use it as an energy food. Give your children plenty of rich nourishing Karo—because it not only supplies the demand for a "sweet" but is real energy food.

Let your grocer be your Children's Health Doctor—ask for Blue Label or Red Label Karo—both of equal nutrition.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN CISTERN

Dependancy, induced by failing health is believed to have caused the death of Mrs. Sarah Drake, 59 at her home on the Yellow Springs-Enon road, Monday afternoon, according to Coroner Theodore Schaefer, of Clark County. Mrs. Drake's body was discovered by her daughter Miss Marie Drake, in the cistern at her home, at four o'clock, Monday afternoon. Miss Drake, a teacher in the Oak Grove School, in Clark County, returned home about 4 o'clock, and failed to find her mother. A search of the premises revealed Mrs. Drake's body in the cistern. It is believed that the death occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Drake's husband, William Drake, preceded her in death a number of years ago, and she has been in failing health since his death. She is survived by two children, Miss Marie Drake, and Warren Drake, a farmer.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced. Mrs. Drake was a member of the Yellow Springs Presbyterian Church.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Evil Shepherd

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Dinner was served to them in the smaller of the two dining-rooms, an exquisite meal, made more wonderful still by the wine, which Hedges himself dispensed with jealous care. The presence of servants, with its restraining influence upon conversation, was not altogether unwelcome to Francis. He and Margaret had had so little opportunity for general conversation that to discuss other than personal subjects in this pleasant, leisurely way had its charm. They spoke of music, of which she knew far more than he; of foreign travel, where they met on common ground, for each had only the tourist's knowledge of Europe, and each was anxious for a more individual acquaintance with it. She had tastes in books which delighted him, a knowledge of games which promised a common resource. It was only whilst they were talking that he realized with a shock how young she was, how few the years that lay between her serene school days and the tempestuous years of her married life. Her school days in Naples were most redolent of delightful memories. She broke off once or twice into the language, and he listened with delight to her soft accent. Finally the time came when dessert was set upon the table.

"I have ordered coffee up in the little sitting-room again," she said, a little shyly. "Do you mind, or would you rather have it here?"

"I much prefer it there," he assured her.

They sat before an open window, looking out upon some elm trees in the boughs of which town sparrows twittered, and with a background of roofs and chimneys. Margaret's coffee was untasted, even her cigarette lay unlit by her side. There was a touch of the old horror upon her face. The fingers which he drew into his were as cold as ice.

"You must have wondered sometimes," she began, "why I ever married Oliver Hilditch."

"You were very young," he reminded her, with a little shiver, "and very inexperienced. I suppose he appealed to you in some way or another."

"It wasn't that," she replied. "He came to visit me at Eastbourne, and he certainly knew all the tricks of making himself attractive and agreeable. But he never won my heart—he never even seriously took my fancy. I married him because I believed that by doing so I was obeying my father's wishes."

"Where was your father at the time, then?" Francis asked.

"In South America. Oliver Hilditch was nothing more than a discharged employee of his, discharged for dishonesty. He had to leave South America within a week to escape prosecution, and on the way to Europe he concocted the plot which very nearly ruined my life. He forged a letter from my father, begging me, if I found it in any way possible, to listen to Oliver Hilditch's proposals, and hinting guardedly at a very serious financial crisis which it was in his power to avert. It never occurred to me or to my chaperon to question his bona fides. He had lived under the same roof as my father, and knew all the intimate details of his life. He was very clever and I suppose I was a fool. I remember thinking I was doing quite a heroic action when I went to the registrar with him. What it led to you know."

There was a moment's throbbing silence. Francis, notwithstanding his deep pity, was conscious of an overwhelming sensation of relief. She had never cared for Oliver Hilditch! She had never pretended to! He put the thought into words.

"You never cared for him, then?"

"I tried to," she replied simply, "but I found it impossible. Within a week of our marriage I hated him."

Francis leaned back, his eyes half closed. In his ears was the sonorous roar of Piccadilly, the hooting of motorcars, close at hand the rustling of a faint wind in the elm trees. It was a wonderful moment. The nightmare with which he had grappled so fiercely, which he had overthrown, but whose ghost still sometimes walked by his side, had lost its chief and most poignant terror. She had been tricked into the marriage. She had never cared or pretended to care. The primal horror of that tragedy which he had figured so often to himself, seemed to have departed with the thought. Its shadow must always remain, but in time his conscience would acquiesce in the pronouncement of his reason. It was the hand of justice, not any human hand, which had slain Oliver Hilditch.

"What did your father say when he discovered the truth?" he asked.

"He did not know it until he came to England on the day that Oliver Hilditch was acquitted. My husband always pretended that he had a special mail bag going out to South America, so he took away all the letters I wrote to my father, and he took care that I received none except one or two which I know now are forgeries. He had friends in South America himself who helped him—one a typist in my father's office, of whom I discovered afterwards—but that really doesn't matter. He was a wonderful master of deceit."
